n Occasional Paper -- Letters from Bishop of British Columbia to Co missary Garrett, Penzance.

Bishop of British Columbia to Commissary Garrett, Penzance.

MINISTRATIONS ALBRADY GOING ON.
Rev. Mr. Dundas, Missionary on our Special Fund, Mission Chapel at Esquimalt, on the afternoon; and Services in the Court House, Victoria, morning and evening.
Rev. Mr. Dowson, Missionary under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel (Craig Hower, three miles from Victoria), he has been there for learning, the Indian language. He had a deputation of Indians from the Lanaaih tribe, to come and be their minister, proposes to go in the spring. He has service at Craig Hower, which musbe kept up when he leaves.
Rev. Mr. Sheepshauks, Missionary on Special Fund, New Westminster; much liked. Three full Services on Sunday.
A church will shortly be builthere. This place during the present year is expected to make much progress.
There is a church, I ought to say, built for the camp, where the soldiers are quartered with their families; two of the Services are there. I will describe this place at greater length hereafter.
Rev. Mr. Crichmer, Missionary under Coloniat Church and School Society, Langley, He has not become much known to we from the circumstance that when New at greater length hereafter.

Rev. Mr. Crichmer, Missionary under Coloniat Chuerh and School Society, Langdey. He has not become much known to me, from the circumstance that when New Westminster became the capital, many people removed to it and left Langley.
Rev. Mr. Pringle, Missionary under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, Hope, is doing a great work. The miners requested him to open servaces at three bars. The site for a church's obtained. He has established a reading-room, where many come. Isaw a gentleman who assisted Mr. Pringle to paddle a cance from Hope to Yale, a most arduous task, against the stream. They had Service in a building which did not hold many, and he adjourned them to a hill, round which many gathered. His own first residence has been a hut, with no window to it! Some of the people asked him when he was to have a house? he said, "Not till after you have built a church."
Rev. Mr. Gammage, Missionary under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, Douglas, is doing well. A paragraph in one of the local papers speaks of a purse of 150 dollars (£30) having "been presented to Mirs. Gammage, the wife of our highly respected minister."
Mr. Duncan, Catechist under the Church Missionary Society, Fort Simpson, is doing a good work among the Indians; at church here on Sunday, were present two of his Indians, candidates for baptism; they are going back, having come on business. One of them "gileves to go back to Mr. Duncan," and is "getting sadder and sadder, for the time is so long." This was the poor Indian's own expression; God grant it may mean "My soul is athirst for God." and that it is seeking Him who said, "Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden." Poor things, they swarm about this town, and know nothing but the vices of white men.

ORGANIZATION.
I look for great blessings to arise from being able to make Lay Agency an institu-of white men.

ORGANIZATION.

I look for great blessings to arise from being able to make Lay Agency an institution from the first. The following is the organization I propose to carry out:

First.—The Living Agency:—

1. The Bishop.

- The Bishop.
 The Priests.
 The Deacons.
- Probationers.
 Lay Deacons, or Readers.
 Teachers.
- 8. Lenders.

 1. The Bishop will visit every place each year, and work as a Parochial Clergyman in some chief place.

 2 and 3. A priest will go round once a quarter to the deacons, to administer the Holy Communion.

4. Probationers.—Any sufficiently qualified, by personal piety and faithfulness, to take some duty,—who may be preparing for the Ordained Ministry. Dissenting ministers, for instance, allowed to visit, exhort, expoint the Holy Scriptures, read prayers in black gowns, but not preach with authority,—their time wholly given, and destined for ordination.

5. Readers, or Lay-Deacons.—Laymen, pursuing their secular calling, but reading prayers and printed sermons in ordinary dress, when licensed by the Bishop. There are many gentlemen, carnest men, who would do this, and ride out to spots isolated, and, where but few could meet, to prepare the way and hold the ground. Occasionally the visits of a clerzyman would be made,

6. Teachers.—Sunday School teachers or enteclist, preparing Catechumens for Baptism, and holding regular schools for educating the young.

7. Visitors.—Females. Attend the sick, ting the young.

7. Visitors—Females. Attend the sick, look up children, care for the Indian females, &c.

males, &c.

8. Lenders.—Working people—communicants—taking a district of so many families, and leaving religious books with them regularly, as a work of charity.

All these will have their work in due or-

- Secondly.—Material Agency:—,

 1. The Consecrated Church.

 2. Mission Chapels.

2: Mission Gnapels.
3. Schoolrooms.
4. Mission Stations.
1. The Consecrated Churches will be set apart for ever for public worship, and entirely the property of the church.
2. The Mission Chapels will be some stores or other buildings lent for retigious purposes, licensed by the Bishop, and used by the probationers.

licensed by the Bishop, and used by the probationers.

3. The School from.—Any place suited for education.

4. Mission Schottons—Any isolated spets in which a few can be gathered where the readers will go. Each consecrated church will have its several mission chapels and mission stations. The stations will develop into chapels, and the chapels into churches. All this system, which I hope please God, to earry, out, and thereby to reach all the scattered sheep. I have long partly used. It is an extension of whet I have found greatly blessed heretofore.

The work will, I believe, be deeply interesting, and if well supported by the right men and sufficient means at first, will lay a good foundation of the religion in this important colony of Britain. God give us all grace to 5p and and be spent for Christ's sake and the souls of many now scattered as sheep without a shepherd.

A good number of a coung men are waiting to be employed. Artizans of any kind can make chornions wages. Even gentlemen are day laborers, on account of the income, and doing anything rather than be idle.

A famous trade might be done in this country in herrings; they are plentiful beyond measure. The present catchers are Italians, who go out and scoop them in along-shore with nets and boats. As it is, many they catch thus are as large as those at Yarmouth. One gentleman has turned to curring them, and he makes four hundred percent of his outlay. There would be a vast market all down the coast of the Pacific. Wood for curing is, of course, in great plenty, There are several other kinds of fish—sturgeon and salmon, for instance. This latter, of the finest description, you can have daily for a mere song, 2d. or 3d. a pound. These are cured also. I will welcome any fishermen who will come out with introductions, and can promise them a lacrative business.

Very rich gold beds have been discovered within the last two months, and it is expected there will be a great influx of people in the spring. I hope to have my iron church ready for them.

We beg arrival.

The Gomelza arrived safe. It was reported when I left England that she was lost.

I must conclude. Thank God, I am well. Greet all kind inquiring friends with my best wishes, and desires tor their prayers. No mission, I feel sure, has left the mother church with more prayerful sympathy directed towards it. I am often encouraged by this. We can expect no prosperity, no success, except we lean alone on our merciful and watchful Father who is in heaven.

VICTORIA, March 9, 1860.

able to visit. (Appendix III.) New Westminster is the chief town, the future capital of the country. It is beautifully situated on the Fraser, about nineteen miles up; the river a mile and a half wide. At present the mighty forest is pushed back not very far. I found Colonel Moody and his good lady ready to receive me; they have an excellent house, with every comfort. The view from their drawing-room is unsurpassed. It looks up a wider reach of the river, in which are several islands; the banks are covered with trees. In the distance are remarkable mountains, glacier clad. On the left a range of hills nearer. A little river called the Brunette emerges near the house, and a rising bank behind leads into the dense forest.

THE FOREST.

It is indeed a mighty forest. The pines are of yast magnitude. I measured one at six feet from the ground; it was 27 feet in circumference. I saw another 13 feet in diameter. The height is wonderful—from 180 to 300 feet. I measured one lying down which was two feet in diameter 200 feet from its base, being 260 feet in all. I heard of others 400 feet, and can readily believe it. Every wind brings down many trees. The fall of a tree is like the report of a cannon. There are huge trees in all stages of decay, some standing erect, without a leaf and without bark; others on the ground. I have stepped upon what seemed the firm trunk of a large tree, and my foot sunk in, and split open the soft body almost as pulp. One trunk lay its long length of some 150 feet, with a diameter of five, entirely rotten, but complete in shape, and a row of young trees growing from the old one—not shoots, but new trees. The whole soil for a considerable depth is vegetable substance, very rich; thus continually renewed, and sending forth with rapid growth a vigorous supply of young trees.

The forest is the settler's enemy. He tries to getrid of it in every way. In the new trees. The whole soll for a consideration depth is vegetable substance, very rich; thus continually renewed, and sending forth with rapid growth a vigorous supply of young trees.

The forest is the settler's enemy. He tries to get rid of it in every way. In the autumn fires are lighted round and inside the trees, and they will burn for days, and then come down with a crash. The fall of a tree is a fine sight—I may say impressive.

Feeling Giants.

Two men will take a day for some of the largest. They use their axes with great precision. Every stroke tells, and they can lay the tree in any direction they please. They cut behind and before; the side on which the tree is to fall has the lower cut. When the time comes, there is a crack—then a quivering of the mighty thing to its tophnost twig, which is up in the clouds almost—then slowly and reluctantly it moves over; crack, crack—on, on—and down terribly on the earth, and again, in settling, its strikes and beds itself, and the branches stand up like arms, and shake convulsively as in the agonies of death; and then the beant is still, and the vacant sky is seen through where for ages he has proudly stopped the light and warmth of heaven's orbiform the earth beneath.

THE MINERS AND THE CHURCH.

An incident of tree-felling will please you. At New Westminster, I visited the site of the church we are about to build. It was still occupied by these ancient giants; but five study men were at work. I stood and watched. They were felling the trees of the church site. I witnessed the fall of two. Two or three days' labor cleared the site. It is a most expensive work, and labor costs much; the skilled axema: will make his £1 a day.

There was standing by these five men the zealous pastor of New Westminster, the Rev. J. Sheepshanks, whose support is derived from our Columbia Mission Fund. These five men were gold miners. Two days after they were going up to the mines as their contribution to the church. They said they had not any money, as they had a long journey to the ster.

It was delightful to see these rough men giving their confidence to their Clergymen, and making a sacrifice cheerfully, under his teaching, for the glory of God.

cess, except we lean alone on our merciful and watchful Father who is in heaven.

VISIT TO THE MAIN LAND—NEW WEST-MINSTER.

A week or two ago, I visited the main land, British Columbia proper,—threading the beautiful islands, of which San Juan is one, and which is close to our shores, and ought by every argument to belong to England. The distance is about sixty or eighty miles, and is steamed between breakfast and dinner. In summer I understand the course is exquisite through the island scenery. I was received most warmly at New Westminster. I send you an address which was presented to me. (Appendix II.) Also one from Hope, which place I, was un-out even thus early. We take up the best feelings of the people. They are struggling, they are scattered, and frequently isolated. Those who visit them are welcomed. They have not yet got their families. We talk of their families, and touch tender chords, and so reach the hearts of many who a few months hence might have grown callous if neglected.

months hence might have grown callous in neglected.

I sincerely trust my friends in England will continue to keep up the Special Fund. We should be powerless without it: but if continued for a few years by annual efforts, we shall; by God's help, lay a good foundation—broad, solid, and secure—for the time

Links in the Government Chain

We adverted briefly yesterday to the jobbery done under the present administration. We renew again some other links in the chain: and when a few more links are brought to public gaze, so far as moral influence is concerned, the so-called govern ment party will be likely to reach the end of their chain, and possibly hang them selves, as a monument of political and moral worthlessness unsurpassed. The Cary-Nias case has developed a phase of morality unexpected in the young in years; and proves that even the young in years may be old in—in moral deformity. What-ever interpretation may be placed on the connection between Cary and Nias-whether legally no partnership can be proven-whether documentary evidence make Cary only a mortgagor, the moral verdict of ommunity will ever remain on the side of Nias. There are cases where the legal verdict may acquit, and the moral convict. This, in some of its phases, is one of these cases; and were it not associated with the government, might be laid aside with a passing notice. But the intimate association of the plaintiff in this case with the head of the government, brings it within the province of public investigation. A few days ago the Speaker of the Assembly alleged that Mr. Cary's sanction to a measure was the sanction of the Executive. He, then, stands forth as the minister, the premier, the ostensible dispenser of patronage, consequently the mere agent of Gov. Doug-las, or else the latter is the tool of the former. If Mr. Cary consented to pay an extra price for public printing, it included the consent of Gov. Douglas to pay an extra price. If Mr. Cary got the printing patronge for the Gazette at a loss to the country, then Gov. Douglas, either as nominal or actual head of the government, consented to loss. If thus linked together as principal and subordinate, both may be charged with misapplying public funds, and both are liable to be called to account for the misapplication. And if both were thus working together, a quasi partnership may be presumed. If such reasoning be correct, the absence of the Governor was opportune indeed to escape other perplexing complications-complications turned inside out, and the whole fully examined by the Chief Justice, to the discomfiture, if not reproach, of His Excellency's minister. Although escaping the uninviting face of the Judge's decision, still it is impossible for the Executive to escape being charged with an alliance to support the Gazette; and that being at a public loss, it necessarily follows that he is responsible. It remains to be seen who is the greatest sinner. If public funds have been misap plied through the representations of Mr. Cary, then he should be as formally deposed he was arbitrarily inaugurated in the office of minister. Perplexing complications, as a finale to a writ of ne exeat, combined with an extravagant disbursement of the revenue to support a mercenary press, are not the wisest means to raise the Executive in public estimation, particularly if the alliance is perpetuated. If, on the other hand, one is as deep in the mud as the other is in the mire, we see no hope except to lay the axe to the root of the tree, that the branches may fall with the trunk.

THE HARBORMASTER OF ESQUIMALT. We hear it rumored that Captain Cooper, M. P. P., and Harbormaster of Esquimatt and New Westminster, has been ordered to the capital of British Columbia. If the report be true, there will be another vacancy in the House of Assembly shortly, as his removal to British Columbia will necessitate the honorable gentleman's resignation.

INCREASE OF SALARIES -- Most of the Government officials in British Columbia have had their salaries increased. Mr. Nind, Justice of the Peace for Fort Alexander, will receive £400 per annum hereafter; the Justices of the Peace on the Lower River, £350; and several of the clerks have had £50 per annum added to their salaries.

MAGISTRATES FOR ROCK CREEK .-- Wm Cox, late Collector of Customs in the Kamloops district; and Mr. Haynes, Chief of Police at Yale, have been appointed to the positions of magistrates at Rock Creek.

The Working of Quartz and Silver

An erroneous impression having grown up in the minds of many, in regard to the ules of regulation laid down by Governor ules of regulation laid Douglas in his several proclamations relative to the working of quartz and silver leads, we append an extract from a proclamation dated the seventh day of September, mation dated the seventh day of copression, 1859:

"In quartz claims the size, when not otherwise established by by-law, shall be 100 feet in length, measured along the vein or seam, with all its spurs, dips and angles, anywhere on or below the surface included between the two extremities of such length of one hundred feet. All measurements of area are to be made on the surface of the earth, neglecting inequalities. Every claim is to have a distinguishing number marked on its boundary pegs. The claims must be registered with the Gold Commissioner of the districts in which they are situated. Applications for leases for a term not longer than ten years, and for not more than half a mile in length of unworked quartz, or a mile and a half in length of quartz that shall have been attempted and abandoned by individual claim workers, must be made to the Gold Commissioner."

The proclamations issued in 1858 are an-

The proclamations issued in 1858 are annulled, and this, we believe, is the only law now in force regulating the working of quartz veins or silver leads.

THE "JOHNS" REBEL AGAINST THE STEAM-SHIP COMPANY .- The John Chinamen in our midst, who are desirous of leaving for California, on Wednesday broke out in open rebellion against the prices charged by the Brother Jonathan for the downward trip. The Celestials, numbering nearly 200, went to Esquimalt early in the morning of that day, with all their baggage and food, and attempted to make an arrangment with the agent of the steamer to take them to San Francisco for $15 per head. The agent declined, and demanded $20. The Johns waxed indignant, and stormed and raved about the injustice of the demand, in their own beautiful language, execrable Chinook, and very bad English. The agent was inexorable, however, and, although he could not turn a deaf ear to the discordant sounds, positively refused to take them at any reduction. Soon the steamer arrived from the Sound, took on her white passengers, and prepared to leave. Negotiations still went on with the agent, but no arrangement could be perfected. The steamer blew her whis-tle, the lines were cast off, and she withdrew a short distance into the harbor, like a decoy duck, to "rope" the Chinamen on board. The Johns still refused, and the steamer started. When about half-way out of the harbor, however, the agent on shore signalized her back, as the Chinamen had finally consented to pay the sum demanded After the loss of half an hour, the steamer was again brought alongside the wharf, ready to receive her living freight. A fresh dis cussion had commenced among the Celestials, however, and finally they seized their bamboo sticks, shouldered their "goods," and trudged back to Victoria, leaving the steamboat men to pour forth left-handed blessings upon their heads for the unprofitable delay. The Chinamen talked the mat ter over in their usual quiet manner, and The Chinamen talked the matyesterday declared they would charter a sailing vessel, rather than pay the extra $5. THE THEATRE.—We have never seen a larger or more respectable audience within the walls of the Colonial Theatre than gathered last evening to witness the play of "Lucretia Borgia." The rendition of the play by the actors was most excellent. Lulu Sweet, as Lucretia, won golden opinions by her graceful and beautiful acting, and brought down the house repeatedly during the performance. She is a charming actress. Mr. L. F. Beatty, as Genarro, never performed with better spirit; his acting showed a great amount of careful study, combined with a natural talent for the drama. Mr. J. S. Potter, as Duke Ferrara; B S. Mortimer, as Cubetta, and H. B. Lane, as Maffio Orsini, also deserve honorable mention, as they acquitted themselves in a man-ner that has been seldom seen on our boards. This evening, "The Orphan of Geneva," and "A Hole in the Wall," will be played. Go early, if you wish to secure a seat.

FURNITURE BY AUCTION.—To-day, at 11 o'clock, A. M., P. M. Backus will sell by auction, an excellent assortment of house hold furniture, consisting in part of sofas, pictures, desks, tables, bedsteads, bedding, etc.; also, a number of clocks. This sale will afford those desirous of adding to their furniture a fine opportunity for bargains.

A LOAN FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA .- GOV Donglas has applied to England for a loan of £50,000 ($250,000), for the purpose of opening out the resources of our sister

THE YALE BOAT .- This steamboat will be launched to-morrow at 3 p. m., from the ship-yard at Major Bay. She will be, when completed, one of the finest boats on Fraser River.

THURSDAY, Oct. 11th, 1860.

House met at 3½ o'clock. Present—
Speaker Helmcken, and Messrs. Foster,
Crease, Cary, Gordon, Tolmie, McDonald and Green.

The Speaker read a message from the Legislative Council, returning the Bill to regulate the sale of fermented and spirituous liquors, with an amendment to clause 3, that "the term fermented liquors shall mean wines of all descriptions."

A PERSONAL MATTER.

Mr. Waddington—I rise, Mr. Speaker, to a personal question in regard to an occur-fance of yesterday.

A DISAPPOINTMENT.

A DISAPPOINTMENT.

Mr. Crease—I observe, Mr. Speaker, a number of strangers present. As this is a personal matter, I move the House be cleared.

The motion was agreed to, and a dozen or fifteen citizens, who had came on purpose to see the "fnn," slowly and reluctantly left the room, and took up a position on the front stoop.

The secret session.

The doors were then closed, and the House held a secret session for half an hour, during which the voices of honorable members, when raised to a high pitch, occasionally reached the loiterers, on the outside.

At 4 o'clock the doors were again opened, and the strangers admitted. We were surprised to see a spirit of lambline meekness manifesting itself upon each member's countenance; and were much pleased to observe the almost affectionate demeanor of the honorable Speaker and Mr. Waddington towards each other; which, we are happy to say, continued until the close of the sitting.

THE TIME TO MEET.

Mr. Waddington called up his resolution of the day previous, that the Speaker adjourn the House on each day upon which there is not a quorum present ten minutes after the time set. The hon, member said it was highly necessary some such rule were adopted; it would tend to make the members more punctual.

adopted; it would tend to make the members more punctual.

Mr. Crease said he thought the existing rules should be continued. We were business men, and as such, could not always arrive at the proper time. Besides there was a difference in watches; there was no town clock to refer to, in order that the watches might be regulated. He thought members should be allowed every opportunity of meeting.

members should be allowed every opportunity of meeting.

Mr. Tolmie did not approve of a strict rule. Members could not always be punctual on account of business.

At the request of Mr. Foster, Mr. Waddington withdrew his motion.

THE LARGEST NUGGET YET .- In veras county, near Salt Springs, California, a poor vaquero, named Willis, lately found a nuggett of gold weighing three hundred pounds, and worth fifty thousand dollars! It is the richest nugget in the world, sur-passing in value the celebrated lump of gold found in Siberia some ten years since, and twice as large as that renowned quartz and gold boulder discovered in 1854, in Austra-lia. The miners of Calaveras were flocking an crowds to the scene of the discovery, and claims along the line of the lead had been staked out for miles. In the meantime Willis found himself suddenly transformed from a poor vaquero without a penny into the possessor of wealth which is scarcely computable. He went to work, however, the second day after his discovery, eager for more wealth, when a bank caved in upon him, killing him instantly. From poverty to wealth, and from wealth to the grave, all in two days!

SILVER MINING COMPANY .- We learn that a company of capitalists is forming in this city, to be called the Greenwood Silver Mining Company. The stock is divided into 145 shares; and it is the intention of the stockolders to push forward the work immediately. The shaft is already down 25 feet; a tunnel is being "driven" to drain off the water which hinders operations a present. A substantial building has been erected on the spot as a residence for the operatives, and sheds placed over the mouth of the shaft. The company are sanguine of success, as the deeper the miners go, the richer the ore becomes. A return is exricher the ore becomes. A return is ex-pected from the 600 pounds of ore sent to San Francisco for assay, about six weeks since, on the arrival of the next steamer.

NOT A CASE .- Quiet times yesterday at the Police Court. Not a single case came before the magistrate—a most unusual oc-

PRISONERS .- There are forty-one prisoners in jail, three of whom are insane

Fine Oregon pears are retailing in town for 121 cents per pound.

According to some of our Eastern contemporaries, an almost incredibly large proportion of the gold coin in circulation in the Atlantic States is spuric as. The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, a few months ago, called particular attention to the subject, since which, according to that journal, careful examination has revealed the fact that an immense amount of the gold coin, even of the banks, has been debased by the depredations of swindlers. According to the authority mentioned, the most dangerous of the frauds discovered consists in taking from either side of the coin a thin shell, preserving the impression made by the dies, soldering these to a plate of planchet of platina of the same size, remilling the edge, and covering all imperfections by a thin magnetic gilding. As the platina is slightly heavier than the gold, and but little space is occupied by the solder, the piece, when finished, is of the same size and weight as the genuine, and is well calculated to deceive any but the most careful experts. From the eagle, by this method, about $5 60 of the gold is withdrawn, at a cost to the operator of about $1 30, and it is calculated that an ingenious workman could produce about 250 of these pieces per day.

Some time since, a commission was appointed by the Government to look into frauds of this kind, and to suggest, if possible, a remedy. One of the plans suggested was the substitution for the present flat coin, of a piece with concave sides, very thin in the centre, and thick near the edges. The very proposition, says the Journal, shows that the commissioners underrate the ingenuity of the regues against whose depredations they would guard. The eagle and half eagle could not well be made so thin that they could not be readily split by a nice adjustment of machinery. But if this could be done, it would not circumvent the operators, who have a method of placing a piece in a lathe, turning on the centre, by which the piece is separated by the saw as far as desirable, so that the increased thickness of the edges wo

THE ASSEMBLY AND MR. WADDINGTON -Quite a number of persons were disap-pointed yesterday afternoon, at not being allowed to hear Mr Waddington's explanation of his course in ascribing improper motives to Speaker Helmeken for convening a House the day previous. The Assembly, very properly, sat with closed doors. We understand, however, that the hon, gentleman explained his reasons for his language; that he was set right on some matters on which he had formed an eroneous opinion, and made the omende. We are glad to record so speedy an adjustment of the difficulty, and hope no proceeding of the same character may again occur within the Legis-lative halls of Vancouver Island.

B. C. CRIMINALS .- When are the absentee criminals to be sent back to British Co-lumb.a? The New Westminster Common Councilors are anxious to enjoy their agreeable society, and we have so many of our own, that we might very well spare the re-presentatives of our sister colony. Send them back, by all means; and much good may their presence confer upon the people to whom they belong, and who are so anxious for their speedy return.

ANTI-RHEUMATIC CORDIAL

Health Restorative

Health Restorative

Is the most valuable and out to be found in the world, or known at present. The discovere of the above medicine does often a truly inside according to direction—and oes offer a reward of five thousand dollars to make a cording to direction—and oes offer a reward of five thousand dollars to medicine that does supersede it, and is entire reward on account of his having used in the above medicine for ten years in his practice, and assever known it to fail in the cure of the above medicine for the years in his practice, and assever known it to fail in the cure of the district of the above medicine for the years in his practice, and the prevention of the fail of the cure of the third that the state of the prevention of the fail of the cure of the district the total of the cure of the district the total of the cure of the district the total of the district the total of the district the ten of the district the total of the district the district the total of the district the district the public, and at such terms that every suffering one should be able to reap its benefits.

As a Health Restorative its value supersedes all the mineral wealth and riches of California; and is creating a revolution in the whole treatment of disease throughout the world.

In secondary and territary Sphilis, Scrofita, Enlargement of the Glands, Dropey, and all Nervous and Cutanous Biseases, and the whole train of Chronic Diseases, which withstand and haffle the skill of the most excellent and and the the skill of the most excellent and and the whole train of Chr which their value and reside. It there was actually and them.

Take this medicine when your digestive organs are disordered and your blood is impure, it will surely act on your bowels.

Take this medicine when you have a cold, and it will make you perspire freely.

Take this medicine when your uringry and absorbing organs are disordered, and it will act on your kidneys—it penetrates every part of your body, searches even the most remote and secret recesses over the most remote and secret recessed your system, and removes the disease located there—it restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body—therefore it has righteously deserved the name it bears: Health Restorative.

It restores healthy action and gives tone to every organ in the human body—therefore it has righteously deserved the name it bears: Health Restorative.

The Doctor, who is averse to all patent medicines, wishes it to be understood that the above medicine is no such thing; but that he has, through the itroduction of this medicine with its treatism and irrections for use, and every such seases.

Thinking every such seases.

Thinking it under my dignity to tollow the mode of quacks, by appending certificates of physicians or private persons, which is too well known can be had for certain remunerations, applications of friends, or by the mode of boring a man half to death for even the most worthless trash, I will therefore leave it to those in want of medicine to inquire personally of men who have been cured by my medicines of the above diseases, and who can be found in almost every city and village throughout be state. I consider such personal conviction far superior to certificates of persons that are lar from being known to them in want of medical aid.

But should any one care for written testimonials or certificates in signification of which have been sent to me voluntarily, without applying for them, or by boring individuals to get them.

To satisfy the most scrupulous of men, also as a guarantee to those that have not had the opportunity of knowing the Doctor by reputation or personally, have adjoined to every bottle of the Anti-Rheumatic Cerdial, the certificate, under oath, of one of the most celebrated analytical chemists in the United States, that there are no minerals nor poisous continued in this medicine, and has a very strong action on the human system, which it necessarily must have, to overcome the action of disease of such malignant character.
